

Session 6

Product Marketing

Messaging the product's value proposition to the right audience.

Housekeeping

1. Assignment 2
2. Mid-term survey
3. Case studies – how we are doing it in IS622

Week 5

01 Product Positioning

Filling the market gap where the product fits best.

02 Go-to-market Strategy

The preparation, launch and growing the product's market.

03 Sales Enablement

Converting users to customers through product marketing.

Recap: Product Deign – What can you make out of this app?

What can you make out of this marketing video?

“Marketing is about values.

It's a complicated and noisy world...

So we have to be really clear about what we want them to know about us.”

Steve Jobs

Product Marketing

Message the Value

Product marketing is a branch of marketing that focuses on finding and promoting a market for a particular product.

It involves understanding the product's target market and customers, creating messaging and positioning that differentiates the product in the market, and enabling the sales and marketing teams to sell the product and support its customers effectively.

Product Marketing

Where does the Lego video stand?

Product Marketing Vs Marketing

Aspect	Marketing	Product Marketing
Primary Goal	Drive awareness and demand for the brand/company	Ensure product success in the market
Focus Areas	Branding , demand gen, content, advertising, SEO	Positioning, messaging, GTM, sales enablement, adoption
Audience	Broad market , potential customers	Buyers, users, existing customers
Key Activities	Campaigns, content creation, lead generation	Product launches, crafting value prop, supporting sales
Collaboration	Works across brand and acquisition teams	Works closely with product, sales, and customer success

Product Marketing

Scope

Understanding Users

This involves conducting market research to understand customer needs, pain points, and behaviors. It also involves keeping a keen eye on market trends, competitor activities, and industry advancements.

Positioning

Once the product marketer needs to define how the product fits into that market — this is known as product positioning.

They also need to craft compelling messaging that communicates the product's unique value proposition clearly and persuasively.

Go-to-Market

Product marketers are responsible for developing and executing go-to-market strategies when launching a product or a new feature.

This includes planning the launch, coordinating with various teams, and creating marketing collateral to support the launch.

Sales Enablement

A significant part of product marketing is ensuring the sales team has the tools and understanding to sell the product effectively.

This often involves creating sales collateral, such as product datasheets, case studies, and demos, and conducting product training sessions for the sales team.

Product Positioning

Product positioning refers to defining how a product occupies a distinct, differentiated space in the market relative to competitors. Effective product positioning involves establishing the following -

- Target customer - Who is the ideal customer for this product? Which segment(s) is this product designed for?
- Frame of reference - What other products or solutions will customers compare against this? Which competitor products does this seek to replace or provide an alternative to?
- Point of difference - What makes the product unique compared to the frame of reference? What key differences or advantages set the product apart from its competition?
- Reasons to believe - Why should the target customers believe the stated point of difference? What evidence, proof points, or features back up the claims of differentiation?
- Benefits statement - What is this product's value proposition and key customer benefits? What problems does it solve for the target customer?
- Brand association - What perceptions, emotions and associations does the brand have that the product will inherit or amplify? What does the brand stand for?

Product Positioning

Value proposition design is the process of crafting a clear, compelling statement that summarizes the key benefits a product delivers to customers. The goal is to communicate what makes your product valuable in a way that resonates with your target customers. An effective value proposition should be:

- Customer-centric - Focused on the jobs, pains, and gains that are most important to target customers rather than leading with product features.
- Clear - Easy to grasp quickly. Avoiding overly complex or vague claims.
- Compelling - Evoking an emotional response in the customer and convincing them to take action.
- Credible - Backed up with evidence for why the product delivers on promised benefits.
- Differentiated - Highlights how the product is unique compared to alternatives customers consider.

Product Positioning

The value proposition becomes the foundation for all other aspects of the product - features, messaging, pricing, sales, and marketing. It should guide the positioning and roadmap.

Ideally, a value proposition should be easily articulated as a single, crisp statement that can become a rallying cry internally and externally.

Example

"Fresh groceries delivered to your door in under 2 hours
— no markups, no hidden fees."

Benefit: Convenience, speed, and transparency.

Product Positioning

Storytelling

Connection

Storytelling allows marketers to create an emotional connection between the product and the target audience.

Engaging

Stories have a natural ability to captivate and engage people. When information is presented in a storytelling format, it becomes more interesting, entertaining, and memorable.

Differentiated

In a crowded marketplace, storytelling helps products stand out from the competition. Marketers can differentiate their products and create a distinct brand identity by telling a unique and authentic story.

Relevant

Storytelling provides a way to contextualize the product and make it relevant to the lives of consumers. By placing the product within a narrative, marketers can demonstrate how it solves a problem or fulfills a need in a relatable and meaningful way.

Product Positioning

Thinking Time!

Credit

Product Positioning

Thinking Time!

Class Exercise

- For each video, describe the product's value proposition and how it is boosted through the story in the video.

Class Exercise

- For each video, describe the product's value proposition and how it is boosted through the story in the video.

Go-to-Market

Product go-to-market (GTM) refers to the strategy and plan for launching a new product to market and driving adoption. It encompasses the critical period from product development completion to market launch and beyond.

- Market Entry Strategy - Describing how the product will be brought to market which includes topics such as phasing, timing, positioning, and market approach.
- Early Adopters - Identify target customer segments most likely to adopt early. Plan the engagement.
- Pricing Strategy - Set initial pricing and discounts/promotions to drive adoption. Monitor and adjust post-launch.
- Sales Plan - Enable the sales channel with messaging, demos, and sales tools/collateral. Define the sales team role.

Go-to-Market

Product go-to-market (GTM) refers to the strategy and plan for launching a new product to market and driving adoption. It encompasses the critical period from product development completion to market launch and beyond.

- Marketing Plan - Build product messaging/positioning, website, content, and launch campaign. Define activities to drive awareness.
- Distribution Strategy - Determine appropriate sales channels/partnerships for distribution. Onboard and align channels.
- Customer Success - Define post-sale onboarding, education, support, and the engagement model to drive adoption.
- Partnerships - Identify partnership opportunities to expand reach. Co-marketing, channel, integration, and technology partnerships.

Go-to-Market

Go To Market Strategy Canvas

Example —
iPod

three five two

This tool is designed as a reference for developing a Go-To-Market Strategy. It can be used as an internal canvas to map what we know about our clients' businesses to plan GTM. The canvas can be used externally in workshops to align client stakeholders to what they know and what we need to learn.

Business Overview
Market Need The problem your products or services solve for the market  Ex. listen to music on the go		Customer Segments The customers you serve (ideal &amp; actual)  Ex. college students Ex. runners
Value Propositions Value of the product or service we delivery - benefits &amp; unique differentiation  Ex. 1,000 songs in your pocket	Competitive Landscape The company's position relative to its competitors	Customer Relationships Buyer journey with company	Customer Pains What user pains does our product solve for?  Ex. Boom-box is heavy	Channels How do you communicate with your customer? How do you deliver the value proposition?
	Pricing Our product's price point relative to the market and competitive landscape		Customer Gains What does a user gain by using our product?  Ex. clicky wheel
Go To Market Strategy
Go To Market Overview What do you intend to learn? How will we go about learning it? Why did you select the channels you did? What is our timeline for learning? Why are we starting where we are in the funnel (AARRR)?  Ex. activate product with local college students		Goals What should our strategy accomplish?  Ex. gather 5 customer feedback		KPIs High-level metrics our Go-to-Market Strategy is measured against  Ex. 50 sales
Primary Digital Channels We know some channels we use for experiments given certain types of accounts, industries, etc.	Key Messages What are the key messages we'll use to move users through the various stages of the funnel?	Creative Direction What emotion should our creative evoke? Should our creative inspire action?	Martech What stack do we have to work with? Where are our gaps? How is data orchestrated across tools?

Credit

Go-to-Market

The product lifecycle consists of four main stages: introduction, growth, maturity, and decline. Each stage necessitates a different product marketing strategy and set of tactics to manage the product's position in the market effectively.

Go-to-Market

Product Marketing over the Product Lifecycle

Introduction

Objective: Create awareness and educate the market.

Marketing Activities: Focus on launching the product with an emphasis on its unique value proposition. Advertising, PR campaigns, and possibly loss-leading pricing strategies are common.

Growth

Objective: Increase market share and establish brand loyalty.

Marketing Activities: Expand distribution channels, emphasize brand differentiation, and invest in competitive advertising. Customer feedback is crucial for improving the product.

Maturity

Objective: Defend market share while maximizing profit.

Marketing Activities: Focus on differentiation from competitors, emphasize brand loyalty, and possibly introduce product variations or extensions. Marketing efforts may include discounts, promotions, and loyalty programs.

Decline

Objective: Manage the product decline strategically.

Marketing Activities: Reduce marketing spend. Strategies may include harvesting (reducing costs to maintain profitability), divesting (selling off or phasing out the product), or pivoting (reinventing or repurposing the product).

Sales Enablement

Pricing strategy in product marketing involves determining how much to charge for a product or service to maximize profit while also providing value to customers. It's a process that considers various factors such as costs, customer demand, competition, and company objectives.

- Cost-Based Pricing: This approach involves setting the price based on the cost of producing, distributing, and marketing the product, plus a desired profit margin. It's simple and ensures profitability, but it doesn't consider customer value or competition.
- Value-Based Pricing: This approach involves setting a price based on the perceived value of the product to the customer rather than the cost of production. It requires a deep understanding of customer needs and preferences, often resulting in higher profit margins than cost-based pricing.
- Competitive Pricing: This involves setting a price based on what competitors are charging for similar products. Companies may choose to price their product higher to position it as premium or lower to position it as a cost-effective alternative.

Sales Enablement

Pricing strategy in product marketing involves determining how much to charge for a product or service to maximize profit while also providing value to customers. It's a complex process that needs to consider various factors such as costs, customer demand, competition, and company objectives.

- Dynamic Pricing: Dynamic pricing involves adjusting prices based on market demand, customer characteristics, or other factors. It's often used in industries like airlines or hospitality, where prices can fluctuate based on factors like time of booking or seat availability.
- Freemium and Tiered Pricing: These are common pricing strategies in software or subscription-based businesses. Freemium offers a free basic version of the product, with a paid version for premium features. Tiered pricing offers different levels or packages of the product at different price points.

Booking.com SGD 🇸🇬 ? List your property Register Sign in

Stays Flights Flight + Hotel Car rentals Attractions Airport taxis

Singapore × Mon, Dec 23 — Wed, Dec 25 2 adults · 0 children · 1 room Search

Home > Singapore > Singapore > Search results

Singapore: 403 properties found List Grid

Sort by: Our top picks

A Hotel Bugis ★★★★★ Featured 126 reviews 6.3

Bugis, Singapore Show on map 0.8 km from downtown
Subway Access

Limited-time Deal

Superior Twin, No Window
2 twin beds

2 nights, 2 adults
~~S$ 463~~ S$ 256 ⓘ
Includes taxes and fees

See availability >

Hilton Garden Inn Singapore Serangoon ★★★★★ Ad 1,059 reviews 7.9

Farrer Park, Singapore Show on map 2 km from downtown
Subway Access
Sustainability certification

Twin Room
2 twin beds

2 nights, 2 adults
S$ 468
Includes taxes and fees

✓ Free cancellation
✓ No prepayment needed – pay at the property

See availability >

Filter by:

Your budget (per night)
S$ 40 – S$ 500+

Most used filters in Singapore

<input type="checkbox"/> Free cancellation	342
<input type="checkbox"/> Wonderful: 9+ Based on guest reviews	17
<input type="checkbox"/> 5 stars	78
<input type="checkbox"/> Less than 1 km Distance from address	80
<input type="checkbox"/> Hotels	326
<input type="checkbox"/> Airport shuttle	30
<input type="checkbox"/> Twin beds	237
<input type="checkbox"/> Downtown Singapore	111

Sales Enablement

Product marketing plays a critical role in enabling sales teams to sell and promote products effectively. Here are some of the ways product marketing supports sales enablement.

- Developing sales tools - Product marketing creates sales presentations, product one-pagers, battle cards, competitive analyses, objection handlers, demo scripts, ROI calculators, and other tools to arm the sales team.
- Messaging and positioning - Product marketing crafts compelling messaging and positioning that resonates with customers and differentiates from competitors. This provides the foundation for sales pitches.
- Market and customer research - Marketing provides key insights into customer needs, pain points, and success criteria so the sales team can tailor their conversations.
- Content creation - From blog posts and guides to videos and podcasts, content fuels the sales funnel. Product marketing creates educational and promotional content.
- Sales training - Marketing educates sales reps on the product value proposition, key features, competitive differentiation, common objections, and ideal customer profiles.
- Event support - From tradeshow to regional events, product marketing supports sales events to engage prospects.

Product Marketing

Comparing B2B and B2C markets

	B2B	B2C
Value Proposition	Focuses on solving specific business problems , improving efficiency, and achieving tangible ROI. The emphasis is on rational decision-making and measurable outcomes.	Emphasizes emotional appeal, enhancing lifestyle , and fulfilling personal desires. The focus is on creating a positive customer experience and evoking emotional connections.
Marketing Channels	Utilizes professional networks , industry events, trade publications, and targeted online advertising to reach the right decision-makers.	Leverages social media, influencer marketing, email marketing, and content marketing to engage consumers and drive direct purchases.
Target Audience	Businesses are the target customers, making the audience more complex and diverse. Multiple stakeholders often make decisions with varying roles and needs.	Individuals are the target customers, making the audience more homogeneous and emotionally driven.
Sales Cycle	Longer and more complex , involving multiple touchpoints, detailed product evaluations, and negotiations.	Generally shorter and more impulsive , driven by emotional triggers and immediate gratification.

Case Study

WeWork

- How does WeWork position itself in the office space rental ecosystem?
- What is WeWork's mission?
- What is the persona of WeWork's customers and how did WeWork reach them?

References

- <https://www.wework.com/en-GB/ideas/category/workspace-solutions/case-studies>
- <https://www.wework.com/en-GB/ideas/workspace-solutions/three-companies-using-wework-to-enter-new-markets>
- <https://www.adsoftheworld.com/campaigns/that-s-how-tomorrow-works>

Case Study

End of Class